海域巡查軌跡
 The image is a screenshot from Google Earth showing a satellite view of the East of Taiwan area. Red lines are drawn on the map, indicating patrol routes. The routes start from the northern coast of Taiwan, extend eastward into the sea, and then loop back towards the coast. There are several smaller islands visible in the area, including the Penghu archipelago. The Google Earth logo and version information are visible in the bottom left corner of the map area.
